

The TRB Task Force on Knowledge Management and the Northeast Transportation Workforce Center are proud to present:

The Brass Tacks of Knowledge Management for Transportation Organizations

This two-part series highlights specific knowledge management approaches and techniques with specific applications in transportation organizations. It is designed for staff within human resources, engineering, research, planning, or information technology functions who are interested in starting up a knowledge management initiative or pilot and want to gain an operational understanding of what would be involved. These sessions will provide stories and information from professionals who have implemented knowledge management in their organizations. Versions of these presentations were made at TRB in January 2017. The webinar will be held in two parts:

Part 1: Wednesday May 17th, 1:00 – 2:00 pm
