

Educational Partnerships for Innovation in Communities (EPIC) Workshop

Friday, November 2, 2018 • 9:00am – 5:00 pm

Room 330, Gonzaga University, Hemmingson Center, Spokane, Washington

The West Region Transportation Workforce Center, sponsored by the U.S. Department of Transportation Federal Highway Administration, is supporting a workshop on the Educational Partnerships for Innovation in Communities (EPIC) Model.

WHAT IS EPIC?

EPIC model programs provide an institutional structure to systematically match local priority projects with university capacity to enable communities to reach their priority goals in an affordable manner while transforming higher education into an arena where students learn through real-life problem solving.

INTENDED AUDIENCE:

- College and University representatives: faculty, sustainability directors, community outreach/engagement programs; service learning program staff.
- Public Agency representatives: city and county managers, transportation and transit agency staff, community and economic development leaders, and other community organizations.
- Institutions and agencies serving the Pacific Northwest and Intermountain West.

To attend the EPIC workshop in Spokane, register through the West Region Transportation Workforce Center Website
(Attendance is limited. Register today to ensure space availability)
<http://wrtwc.org/center-initiatives/spokane-epic-workshop/>